

Emma Svensson, DVM

Evidensia Djursjukvård, Gothenburg, Sweden

Emma Svensson graduated as a veterinary surgeon from Szent István University, Budapest in the year 2013. She is a Swedish specialist in diseases of dogs and cats. She formerly worked at a busy small animal specialty hospital, where she gained extensive experience in ECC while working in the intensive and critical care unit. She is currently working at the Evidensia Small Animal Referral Hospital in Gothenburg. She is part of the team responsible for developing the intensive and critical care unit at this new, modern hospital. Together with the whole ECC community she looks forward to the upcoming EVECC congress and is happy to help creating a wonderful and unique teaching opportunity.
