

Alexandra Nectoux

DVM, Dip. ECVECC, MSc

Alexandra graduated from the Veterinary School of Lyon in 2015. After completing a rotating internship and working in general practice, she joined the SIAMU, intensive care unit of the Veterinary School of Lyon, first as an assistant lecturer, then as a resident in Emergency and Critical Care. She obtained the European Diploma in Veterinary Emergency and Critical Care in 2021 and is now a faculty member at the SIAMU in Lyon. She also passed a master of integrated physiology in extreme condition and a diploma of mechanical ventilation. She's particularly interested in feline blood transfusion, point-of-care ultrasound and renal replacement therapies.